What are Hypnosis and Self-Hypnosis?

Nearly everyone has experienced a trance-like state many times, though they might not have call it hypnosis . Have you ever caught yourself daydreaming and not noticed routine things happening around you?

Hypnosis is a state of mind in which suggestions are acted upon much more powerfully than is possible under normal conditions.

Nearly all scientists and researchers in this topic recognize that the trance state we call hypnosis has special qualities, in it you can control areas of yourself that are normally out of reach of your conscious mind.
